OBJECTIVE

Being so much obsessed with Software Quality Assurance and Testing, I have been spending my invaluable times completely by learning usage of different testing tools, techniques, SDLC, STLC, Database Queries, and conventional documentations for software testing. I want to continue testing with all sorts of application platforms so that I can utilize my potentials to the fullest. Added that, I am really very enthusiastic about learning new things and work in teams.

I may start as an inferior, but my motive and objective is to reach the highest amongst QA through my intensive biasness with the company I am working with. To be straight forward, I want to establish my career fully with QA from bottom to the sky.
